President Truman Will Send To Congress Wednesday A Report On the War Situation

Washington, July 17—(P)—President Truman will send a message to the Korean war to congress Wednesday and report to the nation on it that night by radio.

The White House said neither the message nor the report to the people has been completed yet.

But the message to the lawmakers will carry recommendations for legislative action to back up our efforts to throw the Red invaders out of Korea.

The message will be sent to the lawmakers at 11 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) Wednesday. The radio report, over four major networks and television, will be at 9:30 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

As for the message to congress, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters:

"It will be quite a comprehensive one, giving background of the situation, explaining all steps that have been taken by this government and containing legislative recommendations."

China's Admission To U. N. Essential Stalin Tells Nehru

New Delhi, India, July 17—(P)—Generalissimo Stalin has told India's prime minister Nehru he considers Red China's admission to the United Nations Security Council an essential step toward ending the Korean War, it was reliably reported today.

A reliable source said the Russian prime minister, in a note to Nehru, agreed the Korean crisis must be settled peacefully through the Security Council. But the Council, Stalin reportedly insisted, must include the Chinese Communists among its "big five" permanent members.

Stalin's note, delivered here yesterday in reply to previous communication from Nehru, suggested that the views of the Korean people be heard, the source said.

The Russian message was transmitted to Nehru at Allahabad, where he has been visiting, and was called to the U. S. and British governments. A foreign ministry official said publication of the note would depend on the reaction of Washington and London.

India, an informed source said, does not expect the United States to take the initiative in securing admission for Communist China to the United Nations. India hopes only that the U. S. will not use its Security Council veto to prevent the Communists replacing Nationalist China's representative.

Authoritative sources in Washington already have reported that the United States, while not ready to admit the Chinese Reds to the U. N., would not veto the Peiping government's application if the Reds received the seven council votes necessary to gain admission.

MICHIGAN GIRL CHAMP OF BATON TWIRLERS

Oil City, July 17—(P)—Pretty 17-year-old Joyce Kennedy of Dearborn, Mich., still has her national baton twirling championship today despite tough competition.

The Michigan High School senior nosed out Naomi Zarback of Wheaton, Ill. by a narrow margin of 86 points to 85.6. Marion Lynn of Paw Paw, Mich., was 3rd with 81.9. About 50 majorettes participated in the second annual contest sponsored by the Oil City American Legion Post.

Warren County Delegation Will Attend Defense Conference at Indiantown Gap

A delegation from Warren county including W. F. Clinger, executive director, Judge Allison D. Wade, Prothonotary Ralph Sires, Sheriff L. E. Linder, and Attorney S. D. Blackman, will be among civilian defense leaders from

NEEDED FUNDS ARE ASSURED SENATOR SAYS

Washington, July 17—(P)—Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) said today congress will give the Armed Services any needed increase in funds, "but they will have to use it better than some money has been used in the past."

Bridges, top Republican on the senate appropriations committee, told a reporter he expects a presidential request—probably this week—for "several billions of dollars" to build up the American fighting machine.

He added that the Korean fighting has shown deficiencies in American equipment and a general lack of preparedness for quick action.

Some sources have indicated that the presidential request may go to Capitol Hill in midweek. There have been varying reports about the amount the Armed forces will ask for, with guesses now ranging between two and six billion dollars.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) named a figure of his own yesterday, saying that congress should provide "not far from $5,000,000,000" for the Korean fighting unless the situation improves in the next two weeks.

Bridges said the impending military request makes it more necessary than ever to economize on non-essential spending. The New Hampshire senator is spearheading a drive to cut 10 per cent of non-military funds in the $34,688,000,000 one-package money bill now before the senate.

In that connection, the appropriations committee called administration officials before it for a new review of President Truman's "Point Four" program of aid for the world's under-developed areas. The president has asked for restoration of the $10,000,000 group knocked out of the $20,000,000 outlay approved by the house. Mr. Truman originally had asked $45,000,000.

ON SAD ERRAND

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCurdy, of Canton street, were in Akron, O., Sunday, called by the death of L. R. McCurdy, of Stow, O., who was slain in his automobile at a street intersection Friday evening as he sat in his car at a traffic light.

According to officials of Akron, Mr. McCurdy, who is a brother of Dr. Harold McCurdy, of Jamestown, N. Y., formerly of Grace Methodist church in Warren, was stabbed to death by an intoxicated motorist, who had previously stopped a truck driver and informed him that he was going to kill the driver of an oncoming car.

Potentially Dangerous Transportation Program Hampers Delivery of Supplies

Washington, July 17—(P)—An enormously complex—and potentially dangerous—transportation program is hampering efforts to build up material behind the U. S. forces in Korea.

A mountain of equipment, weapons, ammunition and other material must go into a single South Korean port daily just to keep forces now there supplied for the bitter fight.

That port is Pusan, a tiny place as world seaports go, with limited facilities and a single railroad and inadequate highway routes linking it to the battle zone.

If the port should be crippled by attack or captured, the whole Korean campaign could falter or collapse.

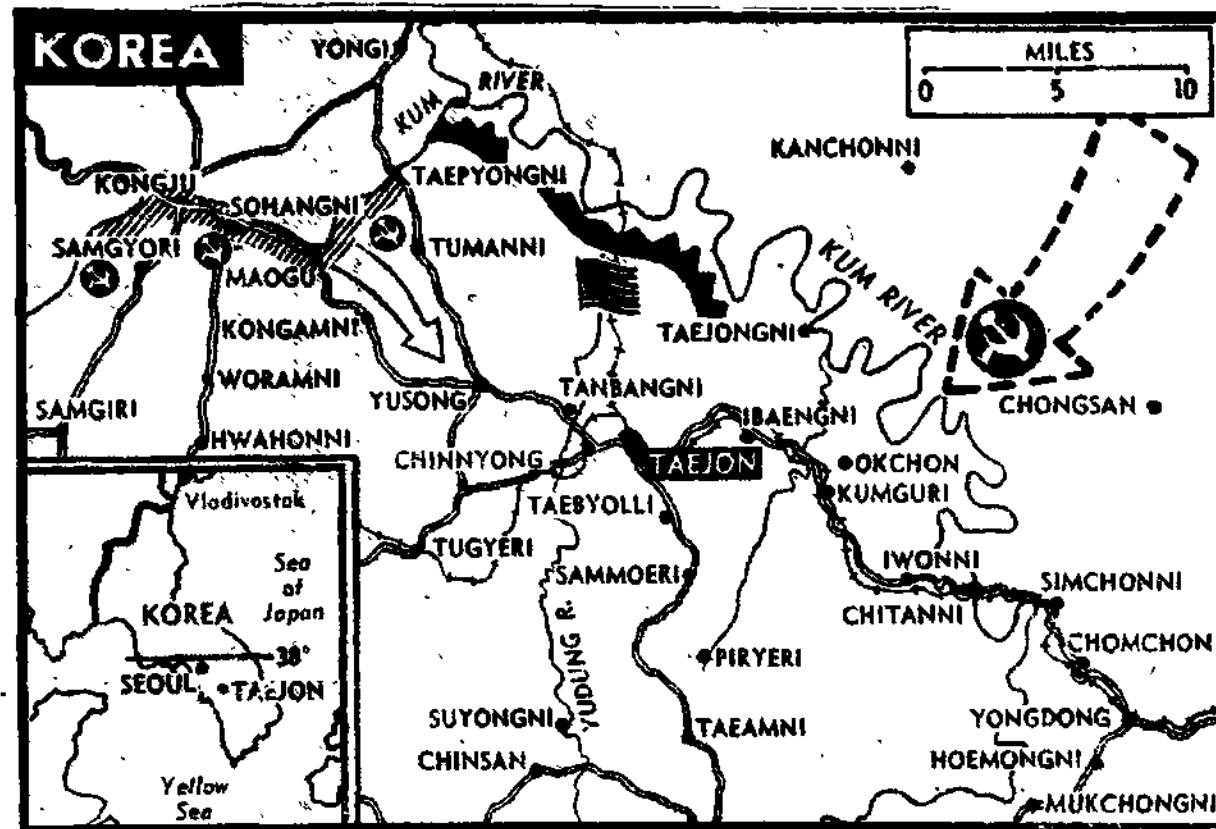

So far, North Korean airplanes have been scarce. The men responsible for getting war goods to the embattled American and South Korean forces haven't had to cope with attempts to bomb Pusan's harbor.

But whether this continues depends upon whether Russia decides to provide the North Korean satellite with a tactical air force. There is still another danger, it is World War II is taken as a lesson—the possibility that the Communists might decide to try V-1 "buzz bombs" as the Germans did with damaging results against the harbor of Antwerp. The Russians are known to have captured quantities of these medium-distance missiles and to have been experimenting with their improvement since the war.

The experts will review all aspects of civilian defense and present two demonstrations of measures that would be taken to aid the populace in case of emergencies.

Gov. James H. Duff moved the meeting ahead from September in view of the Korean situation. Some 6,000 troops of the Pennsylvania National Guard are now in training at Indiantown Gap.

Another demonstration will be the public address operation from planes for instructing large groups of persons on evacuation of bomb-affected areas or to accomplish an assembly in the evacuation areas.

REDS CLOSE IN ON TAEJON—Shaded strip on map shows where thousands of North Korean Communists established bulging beachhead on Kum River's south bank, forcing U. S. ground forces to abandon western defense line and fall back on embattled Taejon. Americans were said to be doggedly hanging on to river front (jagged symbol) due north of Taejon. Broken arrow shows apparent Red advance on U. S. right flank in attempt to thrust down eastern arm of pincers movement.

Warren County Draft Board Receives Word to Call 43 Men for Examinations

The Warren County Draft Board has received word from Harrisburg to send 43 men during August for physical examinations.

Board Chairman Melvin G. Keller said his office had received a call for eight men on August 12, and another call for 35 men on August 15.

Keller also reminded all young men that they are required by law to register within five days after their 18th birthday. He said it also will help the board in its classification work if registrants report immediately any change of address, and also any change in marital status.

The Draft Board office is located on the second floor of the Warren Post Office. The office is open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on every weekday except Saturday.

Harrisburg, July 15—(P)—Some 11,083 men between 19 and 25 will be given physical examinations shortly in order to select Pennsylvania's quota of 1,401 men for the draft.

The announcement was made late yesterday by Lt. Henry M. Gross, state selective service director.

In all, 20,000 young men will be drafted from all parts of the country to meet the defense department's demand for men.

Col. Gross said figures are not yet available on the apportionment of the draft among Pennsylvania's counties.

He released a county-by-county schedule of men to be given pre-induction physical examinations, including:

Adams 49, Allegheny 1,547, Beaver 217, Butler 100, Cambria 259, Cameron 14, Carbon 70, Centre 63, Chester 147.

Price Hike Reports Bring Warning From Senator of a Probe

Washington, July 17—(P)—Reports of food price increases in some areas brought a warning today from Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) that "attempts to profit from the war scare may bring controls."

Gillette is chairman of a senate agricultural subcommittee that has been investigating the spread between prices paid by consumers and those received by producers of food products.

Commenting on the current price situation, Gillette said that "some of the price increases in foods may be the result of a trend toward war scare buying. Holders of such commodities are tempted to collect a little extra profit."

He added that such action not only is likely to bring controls, but should bring them.

In a somewhat similar vein, Rep. Flood (D.-Pa.) said he will seek an inquiry into price increases in the Washington area. He referred particularly to a one-cent boost in the cost of a loaf of bread announced by two local bakers, to become effective today.

MAN IN WAREHOUSE IS SHOT BY ROOKIE COPS

Pittsburgh, July 17—(P)—Two rookie policemen shot and critically wounded a man they said they discovered in a warehouse early today.

The wounded man, shot in the chest, is Peter Stanick, 35. The policemen said they found Stanick in the warehouse of the Gateway Television Company warehouse on Baum Boulevard. The police said they called to Stanick three times to halt and then began firing. Stanick denied any burglary attempt. He told Homicide Detective Martin Cocoran, Jr., he did not know how he had been shot.

TWO ARE ELECTED

In a congregational meeting held following the Sunday morning worship period at Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, Wayne Painter was elected an elder to fill the unexpired term of Arnold Fischer, and Herman Streich was named a deacon. Other business of the session conducted by J. E. Check, president of the consistory, included a veto by congregation approving recommended repairs to the church property.

Fenna. and Calif. After Census Honors

Philadelphia, July 17—(P)—Pennsylvania and California are running a close battle for the honor of being the second largest state in the nation while Philadelphia still holds a margin over Los Angeles as the third most populous city according to incomplete census returns.

The census bureau announced over the weekend that Pennsylvania had grown by 1950 to a preliminary population figure of 10,435,965, little more than a maternity ward lead over fast growing California. The official figure for California is not yet out, but an Associated Press tabulation indicated there are 10,400,000 Californians.

In the battle of cities, Philadelphia has 2,057,210 residents according to the latest count while Los Angeles can boast of only 1,954,036.

Wallace Stand May Split Progressives

South Salem, N. Y., July 17—(P)—Henry A. Wallace plans to quit as leader of the Progressive party if its members reject his stand on Korea.

On Saturday Wallace said that while he held "no brief for the past actions of either the U. S. or Russia," he was on the side of his country and the United Nations.

Progressive party leaders countered with a statement saying foreign intervention can only make the Korean dispute more difficult and bloody, and condemning President Truman's orders to the Navy to defend Formosa.

Although he lined up Saturday behind the U. S. and U. N. factions in Korea, Wallace was still sharply critical of the war.

"It is insanity for the U. S. to fight for Syngman Rhee and his cruel government which was repudiated by the South Koreans themselves," he said.

Two Red Columns Driving To Cut Off Pusan Port Are Halted By Yanks and South Koreans

Korean Front: Reds pour three and possibly four divisions behind tanks in offensive to take Taejon, driving Americans back. Taejon airfield abandoned. Guerrillas reported at city outskirts. To the east, two Red columns driving to cut off Pusan port halted by South Koreans supported by firepower of U. S. artillery and planes.

Air war: Fifty B-29s plaster Seoul with 400 tons of bombs, rip enemy positions behind central front. American and Australian planes destroy or damage 28 tanks and 32 trucks. Fighters batter Red front lines in "round-the-clock" missions.

New Delhi: Soviet Prime Minister Stalin reported to have said, replying to Indian mediation offer, that admission of Red China to United Nations is prime essential for peaceful end of Korea war.

Washington: Secretary of State Acheson reported preparing reply to Indian offer, barring appeasement but otherwise leaving door open for peaceful settlement of Korea war.

President Truman reads message to congress on Korean war for Wednesday and report to nation that night by radio. Pentagon briefing officer says U. S. forces will hold somewhere south of Kum river and "get built up for our offensive."

Tokyo, July 17—(P)—Hordes of Red infantrymen and tanks bore down on Taejon approaches tonight. But in the east General MacArthur said the Communists were handed their two worst setbacks of the Korean war.

The Taejon airfield, three miles north of the one time South Korean provisional capital, was abandoned last night. Lief Erickson, Associated Press correspondent at American headquarters in Korea, said a spokesman announced the field had been under Red artillery fire since Monday noon.

Two Russian built Yak fighter planes were shot down by American pilots. One was downed by Lt. George M. Edwards of El Paso, Tex., north of Taejon. A jet F-80 shot down the second plane when Edwards called for help. It was the first time the Red planes had shown any fight since 17 were shot down early in the war.

In the west the Americans, outnumbered 10 to one by the North Koreans, were pushed back six miles. The entire 24th American infantry division fell back slowly from the Kum river southwest of Kongju and northwest of Taejon.

Tank led North Korean infantrymen pushed across the Kum Saturday, MacArthur said.

But, the United Nations commander declared, the 24th held them up 48 hours, giving southern elements time in which to gather men and supplies for "assuming the offensive" against the North.

He said the American 34th and 19th infantry regiments—elements of the 24th division—had taken up defensive positions along the north and west approaches to Taejon. Taejon is the abandoned southern emergency capital.

Once they crossed the Kum, MacArthur said, the Reds resumed their flanking and infiltration tactics. This forced the Americans to take up a new position.

Heavy Destruction Of Enemy Supply Lines Is Reported

An American Air Base in Japan, July 17—(P)—American pilots blasted North Korean transport today from Seoul to the breakthrough area south of the Kum river. They flew "round-the-clock" missions, attacking with rockets and machineguns.

Some pilots roared in so low they feared they would scrape trees and hillsides. They ripped trucks, crawling southward along highways and big Red tanks sheltered by earth banks.

The fighters reported destruction of three tanks, 17 trucks and two locomotives. They damaged 30 trucks and shot up several buildings which were suspected Communist shelters.

Some jet pilots said they had been told to blast an area two miles south of Kongju on the Kum river, indicating the Reds had penetrated at least that deep on the western front of American positions.

MacArthur's communique said the Reds had penetrated six miles south of the Kum, but he did not specify where.

Lt. Gerald Major, a jet pilot of South Bend, Ind., said he and another pilot in his flight had left burning one Red tank and an unspecified number of trucks at points several miles south of Kongju.

Capt. John Salyards of Pomona, Calif., said he had seen rocket hits from F-80 jets on "real big tanks" hiding up against a dirt bank in the Kongju area. Salyards also strafed some trucks in a building area from which Americans were being driven.

Acheson Planning Most Delicate Move Of World Crisis In Answer to Nehru

Washington, July 17—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson is planning to make one of the most delicate diplomatic moves of the world crisis this week in reply to suggestions of India's Prime Minister Nehru for settling the Korean war.

The New York Times and a New Delhi source reported today that Russian Prime Minister Stalin has replied to these suggestions by asking for the seating of Communist China in the United Nations Security Council as a step toward ending the war.

Acheson is expected in his answer to draw a sharp line between peace and appeasement, as those terms are applied here to the Korean situation.

The essential condition to any settlement of the Korean and related Far Eastern issues is complete withdrawal of the Communist invasion forces from South Korea, Acheson is expected to write.

The United States, he will make clear, is not prepared to compromise on this condition which is not only an American but also a United Nations objective.

At the same time, associates said, Acheson will not close any door to an international effort to work out a just, permanent solution.

Pioneer Food Chain Declared Fair In Business Dealings

Cleveland, Ohio (Special)—A 400 percent increase in sales to A&P Food Stores of a product in direct competition with an A&P-produced item is enough to convince Albert S. Weiss, head of the Weiss Noodle Company of 2101-5 Woodland Avenue, that the pioneer food chain is fair in its business dealings.

So he wrote to congressmen and other federal officials expressing his opposition to the anti-trust lawsuit which seeks to break up the pioneer of chain store systems. One of the charges in the litigation is that A&P's manufacturing of some products sold in its stores is wrong.

"Our experience with the A&P Tea Company is paradoxical to the government contention in this case," he said. "We happen to manufacture and sell you a commodity, namely, egg noodles, which is in direct competition in your stores with egg noodles of your own make. Despite this fact, however, our business has increased at an annual pace four times over our initial year of doing business with you."

"We find A&P Stores give people what they want, whether they manufacture the commodity or not, or whether it's in competition with their own make or not. Besides, they sell this merchandise at a fair mark-up and at a great savings to the consumer."

"So what is this all about? Why try to separate the manufacturing from the retailing or try to break up the A&P Tea Company setup at all? . . . A&P certainly deserves a great share of the credit for their help to keep up the standard of living of the American people by keeping prices low and by giving the American people what they want."

HAROLD W. GEIGER
Soil Conservation Service

Hello, folks. This warm weather finds everyone busy on the farms in Warren County, especially when it comes to getting in that last load of hay before a thunder shower.

Conservation surveys were made this week for Bob Morley, Lander farmer, Lyle McIntyre, in Farmington Township, and Warren Engle in Freehold Township. The survey information will be recorded on Land Use Capability Maps for these farmers to use in planning conservation practices on their farms. "Putting each acre to its best use and treating every acre according to its needs" is the basis for the whole conservation program.

Pete Druggan, Deerfield township farmer, stopped in the other day to tell us that his diversion terraces are really doing a great job in taking excess water off his fields. Pete says that the water moves off at a steady rate causing no erosion damage to the soil.

George Walker's pond, on the Big Four road, is nearing completion after several interruptions, including bad weather and machinery breakdowns. George has seen the value of checking into the types of soil before building any ponds. The original location located on a gravelly, well-drained soil, would have resulted in a dry pond and a very disappointed George.

Plans are under way to build that "sky pond" of Hugh Sechrests up in Glade Township. The pond is to be supplied with surface run-off water brought into the pond itself by means of a diversion terrace. Between 3 and 4 acres of hayland will provide the water to maintain Hugh's quarter acre pond.

Ralph Ruble, Asst. State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service here in Pennsylvania, came up with some interesting figures for the first half of 1950. He says that in the 26 operating soil conservation districts in Penna.—there were 1365 complete conservation farm plans completed, covering about 156,000 acres. That is quite an accomplishment and also quite a chunk of land.

BLAME FOR KOREAN REVERSES

As the war in Korea continues to go badly for our side, criticisms are bound to mount. People will be looking for scapegoats.
Some will blame the Administration, or particular parts of it like the State or Defense Departments. Others will jump on General MacArthur, or perhaps his field commanders.
Painful questions will be asked. Why haven't our troops made a better showing? Why haven't they got more and better equipment to fight with? Where are the planes and ships we need to dispatch reinforcements to buck up the outnumbered Yank soldiers?
Superficially, the answers may not seem difficult to find, and they may indeed point to weakness and failure in our government. Not alone in the Administration but in Congress as well.
If the investigators and critics go back far enough, as they ought to do, they will find that when World War II ended we disbanded our huge army and navy with tremendous speed. The war over, we allowed our soldiers to cast aside their weapons and go home.
Into the world vacuum created by the swift dismantling of our military might moved the newly powerful Soviet Union. In the space of a few short years Russia was reaching out to draw within her orbit nations we had thought were safely free. When Czechoslovakia slid behind the Iron Curtain we became alarmed.
Suddenly the call went out to strengthen our defenses again. America's own military budgets were boosted, and soon we began voting money to help arm friendly nations we thought could share the job of standing off militant communism.
Yet never in the two years since the alarm was sounded have we grappled realistically with our defense needs. Big as the U. S. defense outlay has been, it hasn't been large enough to qualify as more than a token of our intent to resist.
All these decisions, from the whirlwind disbanding of our World War II forces to the economies of 1949-50, can be ascribed either to the present Administration or to the Congresses that have served since 1945.
But are they basically to blame?
The inescapable truth is that they did not keep a bigger defense establishment in being, or restore it once it had been broken up, because they did not believe public opinion would support such a program. President Truman and his advisers and the nation's top congressional leaders make a business of judging what the people will stand for. It was their considered view that a really adequate defense was not among those things.
Perhaps these men should have shown the wisdom and courage to lead public opinion rather than be guided by it; but the politicians, generally, do not take that course.
It is the American people themselves who have dictated the present state of our defenses. In the face of a clearly great menace from Russia, they have chosen to go on living comfortably, even luxuriously. They have wanted business as usual and life as usual.
The price of complacency and softness is often high. We're paying it now on the bloody battlefields in Korea. And we'll go on paying until we wake up to the kind of a fight we're in. Russia is playing for keeps, and we'd better learn to do the same.

WORLD WAR II CASUALTY LIST

The Park Committee of the borough council has launched plans to secure a complete list of men and women from Warren county who lost their lives in World War II, for the purpose of having them on a plaque to be placed on a boulder that will eventually be erected at the entrance of War Memorial Field.
To that end the committee has compiled a tentative list that will be found on page twelve of this issue, along with a coupon for convenience of readers who may find additional names not known to the committee.
The cooperation of every reader is solicited by the committee and The Times-Mirror in an effort to secure the name of everyone from the county who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II. Complete instructions will be found in the coupon printed along with the names.

Among the reports filtering back from Army headquarters in the Far East is one which tells us that the military has moved swiftly to set up post exchanges and establish other "morale - building" facilities in embattled Korea. Looking at pictures of American soldiers shot in the face by savage North Koreans, reading the regular accounts of "our troops" withdrawals under superior enemy fire and weight of metal, we couldn't help wondering if morale wouldn't be boosted more by a few "Long Tom" artillery pieces than by PX's complete with candy and chewing gum.

Here And There

We are always gratified to acknowledge contributions that serve to help fill this column from day to day. Over the weekend we received a parcel from Mrs. O. C. Sparks, Corydon, containing portions of copies of two old papers printed in Warren. One is from the Warren Mail of April 26, 1883, and the other a copy of the Warren Ledger of November 26, 1886. One of the most interesting items, in the issue of the Mail is the following concerning population figures in nearby towns. It says: "Franklin, Pa., is now a city, having been incorporated by act of the legislature. The Spectator gives notice that it will exchange with country papers the same as heretofore." The cities of North-Western Pennsylvania, with their estimated population, now comprise the following: Erie, 18,000; Meadville, 10,000; Titusville, 7,000; Corry, 7,000; Franklin, 6,000. We presume it will not be long until New Castle, Oil City and Warren apply for the privilege of being governed by a mayor. We are a growing "peoples".
In the issue of the Ledger we find the following interesting legal notice inserted over the signature of G. V. N. Yates Burgess of Columbus: "Be it enacted and ordained by the Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Columbus, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, Section 1, That it shall be unlawful after the publishing of this ordinance, for any person to ride or drive on any bridge in the Borough of Columbus, faster than a walk; and any person convicted of the same shall be fined Five Dollars and costs of the suit; and half of the said fine to go to the complainant, and the balance to go into the Borough Treasury. Section 2d, It shall be unlawful for any person to mark or whittle, paste or tack any bills on any bridge in the Borough of Columbus, and any person convicted of the same shall be fined One Dollar and cost, and one half to the complainant, as in above section. The above to be sued and collected as in other Ordinances in this Borough."

What to Call Korean Crisis Baffles Many in Washington

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The Korean affair hasn't rescued the Pentagon experts from the grim realities of bureaucracy. Latest is a cold-blooded rubarb over what the official title should be for the Korean business.
White House has said it's not a war, so that word is out in any official references. State Department is trying to get it labeled "Peace Action." Pentagon boys don't like that handle. Army intelligence reports call it "Situation in Korea." Other official reports refer to it as "Korean Incident."

Other notes from a Pentagon war correspondent: One Department of Defense official says the Korean crisis is nothing compared to the crisis which has arisen over providing parking spaces for the additional newsmen who are now covering the Pentagon.
Biggest mystery is why the Navy's public relations office was so slow and timid in reporting naval activity in current affair. At the daily briefings the Navy spokesmen apparently didn't know as much about what was going on as appeared in the papers. What the Navy has done and how quickly it got into action is a good, dramatic story. What the Navy is sitting on it for is the big question.
Since the Korean outbreak the Army has had more than 1000 applications from newsmen for official accreditation to the Department of Defense.
There are stand-by plans to slap wartime security measures back on the Pentagon. During working days anybody can get in without a pass. Only off-hours do you need a pass for admittance. Emergency plan would make a pass necessary all the time.
AN increasing number of military experts are claiming flatly that Russia does not have an atomic bomb which could be dropped from an airplane. They admit that the Reds have produced some test atomic explosions. But they say they do not have the complicated precision instruments necessary for detonating an aerial A-bomb.
They're predicting that Secretary of Defense Johnson will use the Korean emergency as an excuse for putting his Republican cronies, Paul Griffith, in the job of Deputy Secretary of Defense when it is vacated by Steve Early. Griffith is now assistant secretary. Fact that he is a Republican might have kept him out of that spot under ordinary conditions.
Sea mines, planted by the U. S. around Korean waters and around Formosa during World War II, are the biggest hazard to Navy operations in those areas today. They have drifted since being planted and nobody knows where they are. It's practically impossible to sweep them by ordinary methods. Not anticipating the need for detonating our own mines, a method for doing it safely was overlooked when the mines were developed.
They've been paying fabulous wages to civilian crews who man ships which deliberately sail over the lost mines to set them off. The crews wear football helmets and are heavily padded to protect them from the underwater blasts. Surplus cargo ships are being used in this ticklish business. In spite of the big pay, it's plenty hard to get volunteers for the job.
More than half of the pilots in Japan who are flying sorties against the North Korean forces are veterans of World War II. Their average age is over 32, considerably higher than the optimum age recommended for combat operations.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

Word has been received here that Miss Catherine Rogers, Market street, has received her pilot's license from the Penn School of Aviation at Butler. She is the first girl to get a license from the Pittsburgh-Butler airport and is Warren's first girl pilot.
The Stewart-Duell outfit defeated the Barrette Cleaners last night by a score of 7 to 6, to go into a tie for third place with the Cleaners and Texas Lunch. Frank Draeger was pitcher for the winning team.
Another step in the progress of Warren's new post office building was noted in the receipt by Postmaster Lyons today of specifications for a topographical survey of the site, preliminary to preparation of actual plans for the building.
Straight classical lines were prominent in the 125 creations displayed at the annual autumn fashion promenade of the Garment Tailors of America at the Hotel Astor. The moot question of long versus short skirts was skillfully sidestepped by providing them in lengths that vary from the instep to 14 inches from the floor.
At the annual meeting of the Warren Library Association, W. F. Messner was elected president; H. L. Banghart, vice president; C. J. Crary, secretary, and O. A. Pressell, treasurer.
The third disastrous fire in recent weeks visited Youngsville early this morning when the East End Store, popularly known as the Biggest Little Store in the County, was gutted by fire and water.

The State-Bankers have copped the championship for the first half in the Sunset League.
War Bulletins: Count Ciano is on his way to confer with Hitler in Berlin. . . The Japanese foreign office announced Britain has agreed to close the Burma Road—China's main lifeline of war supplies—and also shut off the flow of arms traffic into China from the British Crown Colony of Hong-kong.
The Russell Field fence project was again delayed last night when the school board opened bids, looked at the amounts and rejected all of them. With the available cash amounting to $5,600, the bids which ranged from $8,000 to $13,000 were beyond consideration.
Faced by Captain Emmy Morrison who hit home runs the first three times he walked to the plate, the National Forge served notice on the rest of the teams by hanging up an 11-8 victory over the Brackenridge hopefuls in the first round of the state semi-pro tournament at Vandergrift.

NEWS OF THE WORLD AS SEEN IN PICTURES

AWKWARD AS A WHAT?—This actual bull that actually got into a china shop at Malvern, Worcester, England, did exactly what a bull in a china shop is said to do—but he didn't do it until he was provoked. The scene, calling for mass destruction of china, was staged during the filming of a documentary film. The bull, named Maderfield Champion, behaved all too nicely until they brought in his girl friend (foreground). Then he went on a rampage and behaved like any bull in any china shop.

GRIM AFTERMATH—U. S. Army and civilian searchers probe for the bodies of the 16 airmen reported killed when their B-50 bomber crashed near Mason, O. The violence of the crash, which left a gaping crater in the ground, made counting and identification of the victims difficult.

HERE'S THE RUSSIAN TANK THAT'S BLASTING YANKS IN KOREA—U. S. tanks have taken a bad licking in Korea, and the reason, military experts say, is that they're out-gunned by Soviet-made medium and heavy tanks. Above is the Russian-built T-34, used by North Koreans. It has an 88-millimeter, long-barrel gun, similar to the famous, hard-hitting 88's that Nazi panzers used so devastatingly in World War II. Our best medium tanks, the Sherman, M-24, with a short-barrel, 75-mm. cannon, and the Pershing, M-26, with a short-barrel, 90-mm. gun, are accurate and fast-firing, but far out-ranged by the long-barreled Red guns of similar size.

TO THE SHORES OF KORE.—Fighter planes of the famed First Marine Division are loaded aboard U. S. escort aircraft carrier Badoeng Strait at San Diego, Calif., as loading operations near completion. The carrier is expected to join oil tankers in the Korean fleet.

Hal Gamble, left, of San Francisco, and Capt. James Constantine of Knoxville, Tenn., look over the unique weapon. The anti-tank gun fires the same size bullet as some U. S. fighter planes.

WAR IS LIKE THIS—A scene of pathos is caught in this remarkable picture taken at a first-aid station near the battle front in South Korea. An Army chaplain bends over a wounded American soldier, comforting him as best he can.

"ANGELS OF MERCY" LAUDED—U. S. Army nurses Lieut. Florence Dean (third from left), Cleveland, O., and Lieut. Marguerite Liebold, Detroit, Mich., are shown with medics at field hospital somewhere in South Korea. The commanding officer of the twelve handpicked nurses serving near the front lines said there would be "many more American dead" without their help. ONE FOR ALL AND ALL FOR ONE—Multiplying the spirit of the "Three Musketeers," an entire squadron of 24 Navy Reserve fighter pilots volunteered for active duty because "We long ago decided we would stick together." Pictured are members of Reserve Fighter Squadron VF 781 at their Los Alamitos Naval Air Station base. In addition to the pilots, six ground officers and 35 of the group's 70 enlisted men volunteered.

Patricia Ann Graebner-Robert Kraft
Wed In Double Ring Ceremony July 15

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. KRAFT

Wearing a traditional white satin gown and veil of illusion net, both designed and made by her mother, Patricia Ann Graebner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Graebner, 107 Grant street, became the bride of Robert A. Kraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kraft, Lanning Hill, on Saturday, July 15.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Nore G. Gustafson in St. Paul's Lutheran church at 3 p. m., with summer flowers and palms used in an attractive altar setting.

Mrs. Emil Jacobson was at the organ, for a recital of familiar bridal airs as guests assembled and played the accompaniments of Gordon Odmark, who sang "O Perfect Love", "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bridal gown was styled with off-the-shoulder yoke of Chantilly lace, fitted sleeves tapering over the hands, and a full skirt with wing-draped back falling into a train. Matching lace fashioned the cap which held her veil. With her bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas, she carried a psalm book 100 years old, which once belonged to her great-grandmother in Sweden. Her only jewelry was a pearl and diamond necklace belonging to the bridegroom's mother.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, she chose as maid of honor, Helen Hathaway, wearing lime green taffeta with overskirt of net, and as bridesmaids: Connie Corbran, in aqua; Nanette Sulo, in pink; Julia Berdine in orchid and Frances Tomasone in yellow. Their frocks of taffeta were full-skirted, with matching ruffle trim, and mitts matched each frock. Each carried carnations of the same shade as her gown and had a matching head bandeau of carnations and sweet peas. Linda Watt, the flower girl, wore a light blue frosted organdy, also styled and made by Mrs. Graebner, and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Completing the bridal party were Allen Anderson as best man for his cousin, and the ushers: Louis Bonace and Robert Benson, Warren; Jack Landers, Sheffield; Gilbert Mead, Akeley.

Mrs. Graebner was attired in an aqua and white print, with which she wore white accessories and a pink rose corsage, while Mrs. Kraft wore aqua crepe, black accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The reception followed immediately in the church parlor for 150 guests. Bouquets of white sweet peas and garden flowers were used throughout the room and white carnations, white tapers and a four-tier wedding cake centered the bride's table. Mrs. Clinton Bush and Miss Eunice Anderson, aunts of the couple, presided, and an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Ernest Cunningham, served the cake.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Bush, Horseheads, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Starner, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Starner, Kane; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cunningham, their daughter, Joyce, Mt. Jewett; F. Robert Kraft and Anna Kraft, Cleveland, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Landers, Sheffield.

The couple left later for a motor trip through Canada and the New England States, to be at home at 118 North Irvine street after July 25. The bride traveled in a yellow linen suit, for which she selected white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Graduate of Warren High, class of 1948, and currently a student at Warren Business School, the bride has been honored with parties given by Helen Hathaway and Julia Berdine; Mrs. John Kraft and Eunice Anderson; Julia Berdine, Frances Tomasone and Nanette Sulo. The rehearsal party Friday evening was given at Bide-A-Wee Inn by the bridegroom's parents.

Mr. Kraft, who was graduated from Sheffield High School in 1946 and attended Bethany College in Lindsborg, Kans., is employed by Sylvania Electric Products, Inc.

Mothers Who Yell at Children
Are Inviting a Free-for-All

A WOMAN educator has the theory that much American tension and unhappiness could be reduced if "quiet" voices were used in homes and schools.

She's testing out the theory in her own school. It might not be a bad idea for mothers to test it out in their own homes.

Yelling at children is a bad habit too many mothers indulge in. They not only yell at the children when the children get out of hand but they yell at them just to relieve their own nerves.

Mama fights with Papa in the morning and yells at the kids all day long. Or Mama gets herself into a dither trying to do more in one day than is necessary or possible, and relieves the tension under which she is working by yelling at the kids.

And when nobody in the family is yelling, very likely the radio is turned up so loud that voices coming out of it are far too loud.

Memphis, Tenn.—a city which likes peace and quiet—banned automobile horn-honking and it didn't seem to interfere with an automobile's getting where it was going.

SOFT VOICES CAN COMMAND ATTENTION

VERY likely the same thing would happen in homes. Mama would probably find she could get just as much obedience, if not more, by using a quiet voice when she tells Junior to quit whatever he's doing as by yelling at him.

This yelling at children is really a vicious thing. Did you ever notice how often the mother who yells at her children has children who yell right back at her?

Also, that the mother who yells her last threat has a child who doesn't obey her until he hears that final yell?

Informal Rite In St. Joseph's Rectory
For Mary Scrivano-Kenneth Haight

An arrangement of summer flowers decorated the fireplace in St. Joseph's rectory Saturday evening, when Father Alfred Bauer officiated at seven o'clock for the marriage of Mary Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Scrivano, 613 Beech street, and Kenneth E. Haight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Haight, 104 Winterock avenue, Kane.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white tulle and lace, modeled with Peter Pan collar, tiny button fastening for the bodice and long sleeves tapering over the hands. A sweet-heart-shaped headpiece of matching lace held her veil of illusion net and white eravatamia was arranged as a topping for the prayer book she carried.

Her sister and only attendant, Frances Scrivano, wore yellow and white, organdy and a headpiece of baby's breath, with summer flowers used in her colonial bouquet.

Maurice Haight, Jr., was best man for his brother.

Mothers of the principals wore print frocks and corsages of pink roses.

The reception for 150 guests followed from 7:30 until 9:30 in the bride's home, where summer flowers were used in attractive decoration and roses and streamers were used to appoint the bride's table presided over by Mrs. Edith Mazzuca and Mrs. Mary Molinaro.

Out of town guests were from San Antonio, Texas; Woodbridge, N. J.; Rockville, Md.; Helmuth, N. Y.; Kane, Erie, Pittsburgh, Smethport, Wilcox and Youngsville.

For a wedding trip to Rochester, Syracuse and through the Finger Lakes region, the bride chose a silk print dress, white accessories and corsage of white eravatamia. They are to be at home after July 22 in Kane.

The bride was graduated from Warren High School in 1944 and is employed by the New Process Company, while the bridegroom, graduated from Kane High in the same year, served with the U. S. Navy and is employed by the A and P Company in Kane.

Honoring the bride-elect with parties have been Mrs. Edith Mazzuca, Mrs. Rose Mazzuca, Mrs. Mary Molinaro, Mrs. Josephine Muscaro, Frances Scrivano, Thelma Salerno, Lea Rizzardi, Lucy Gortida, Caroline Tridico.

Chapter 18

BY the time we had to leave for the inquest, Uncle Raoul still had not returned.

Lee explained somewhat lamely to the sheriff and the coroner that his father had been called unexpectedly to New Orleans; and much to our surprise, no protest was made by either of them over such unorthodox behavior on the part of a witness who was to have been called upon for testimony.

Greatly to our surprise—and relief—nothing was said about either the torn scrap of paper or the silver dollar. Finally, after the coroner had expressed his professional opinion that Claude had died of a heart attack, "maybe brought on by the shock of stumbling and falling on the sword he was carrying, the five men who comprise a coroner's jury in Louisiana brought in a verdict of death resulting from natural causes.

But we had finished with one worry only to be confronted by another. Returning from the inquest, we learned from Uncle Bountiful that Uncle Raoul was still missing.

"Who saw him last?" Amédée inquired, as though he thought that perhaps this might explain something.

There was a second or two of silence, which Bobby and I broke by starting to speak together. Then we both stopped, each to permit the other to go on.

"When did you see him, Peter?" Amédée asked, turning to me.

"It must have been around two o'clock in the morning," I replied. "He was walking down the drive away from the house. Bobby and I saw him from the upper gallery."

"We'd gone out to look for the howling dog," Bobby explained.

"We—Oh!" She stopped, saucer-eyed, evidently recalling the significance that the dog's howls were supposed to have had on former occasions. I could have shaken her on Pick's account.

Cousin Jeff, as usual, saved the situation.

"If Raoul was unable to sleep and went for a walk," he began, "he may have gone as far as the main road. If he did, it's just possible that he may have been struck and injured by a passing car. I'd suggest that we call the local hospitals, and make a check-up. Do you want me to do it, Pick?"

"Oh, yes!" she cried eagerly, welcoming anything that gave promise of action. Then she asked with a new fear in her voice, "Cousin Jeff, you don't suppose he—he may have been...?"

"No, of course not," he reassured her. "If anything like that had happened, the coroner would have known about it. Do you want to come with me now while I telephone?"

She followed him without a word; and as though their going had been a sign of dismissal, the others gradually drifted away until only Amédée and I were left.

"Peter," he asked as soon as we were alone, "when you saw Uncle Raoul last night, was he carrying any luggage with him?"

"Why, no," I answered. "What made you think of that?"

"I've got half a notion that his disappearance is in some way connected with what he hinted last evening at supper about Grandpère's death," he replied. It occurred to me that he might have gone to New Orleans to see Duval. But he'd hardly have gone without taking a bag or something."

I decided it was time I told all of my story.

"He was carrying something," I said. "But it wasn't a bag. It was your grandfather's sword."

"Grandpère's sword?" he repeated. "And this morning Aunt Delphine—Peter, we've got to find her and make her tell us where she got it!"

"We came upon Aunt Delphine rocking placidly upon the east gallery. She smiled when she saw us. 'Bon jour, mes enfants,' she said amiably. 'I hope you had a pleasant time in town today.' Then to me, 'Did you give Dédé the sword, like I told you chérie?'"

"Yes, she said Tante," Amédée answered for me. "That's what we want to ask you about. Where did you get it?"

Her smile became happily self-satisfied.

"I got it from Raoul," she answered without hesitation.

"Did he say anything when he gave it to you?"

"No, petit; nothing at all." "Where were you when you took the sword Tante," Amédée asked next.

"I was down there," she waved her hand in a vague gesture that could have included half the State of Louisiana.

"We were getting nowhere at record speed," Amédée tried again. "When did you take the sword away from Uncle Raoul?" he asked. "Last night? This morning?"

"This morning," she answered promptly. "I gave it to Peter before they could take it away from me."

"Was Uncle Raoul with anyone when you saw him?"

"She didn't answer the question directly. 'Raoul has gone away,' she said instead. 'Far away. He will never come back.'"

Times-Mirror Carriers Make Merry at Walker Beach

These pictures, taken by staff photographer, at the annual outing for Times-Mirror carriers at Walker beach, show above: Boys around the soft drinks stand; a group of youngsters bathing in Cinderella Lake, used for the first time at the picnic, and boys at play with a large boat in the lake.

Seventy-five Times-Mirror carriers boys participated in the annual picnic staged Saturday afternoon and evening at Walker Beach on Lake Cinderella, near the Locusts on the Warren-Jamestown road.

The boys were transported to the scene of the outing in special Times-Mirror conveyances leaving the office about 12:30 o'clock. Bathing, wading and other sports in Lake Cinderella, the reservoir at Walker Beach highlighted the afternoon's program. All kinds of races, including wheelbarrow, 100-yard dash, bag race, racing with peanut on a spoon, were indulged in during intermissions from the water sports.

As a result of the afternoon's activities a number of carriers received valuable presents, some of which were as follows: Bicycle, David Brown; radio, Virgil Kitter; pair dress shoes, Dick LaTrent; $5.00 sweater, Franklin Moore and football, David Maze. Eight of the boys received a month's supply of admission tickets to either the Columbia or Liberty Theatres, through the courtesy of Managers George C. Sarvis and Eddie Knupp, as prizes distributed during the athletic contests. Other awards were baskets, electric horns, electric lights, flash lights, bats, balls, etc.

At six o'clock a chicken dinner prepared by the Lewis Catering Service was spread on tables under shade trees at the cabin. The menu consisted of chicken and biscuits, peas, mashed potatoes, gravy, olives, rolls, butter, celery, pickles, pie, cheese and milk. During the afternoon the boys consumed 500 bottles of pop, 500 dixie cups in addition to a large quantity of peanuts, popcorn, etc.

Howard Clark, circulation manager was assisted in the event by the publisher, W. A. Walker, "parky" Saylor, and Francis Masterson. Members of the mailing room staff were given cash awards.

The Communists apparently had a twin-pronged drive going south of the river. Both field dispatches and Eighth Army headquarters in Korea said 14,000 still was in American hands.

American and Australian fighters and U. S. light bombers ranged along the flaming front or just behind it in more than 200 combat sorties in close support of American and South Korean ground forces. They were credited with destroying or damaging 23 Red tanks, 32 trucks and 14 railway box cars.

B-29 Superfortress bombers struck deep into North Korean territory. Fifty of them dumped 400 tons on the railroad yards at Seoul, 90 miles above the front. Other B-29s plastered the Chungju area closer to the front.

The North Korean ground forces ran into shattering American gunfire in two actions on the eastern front. MacArthur said they were "two of the most conclusive setbacks" of the Korean war.

North of Yongdok on the east coast, U. S. Fifth Air Force planes tore the Reds apart. In the critical sector around Chechon it was American artillery that mauled them.

Yongdok is 85 miles above the port of Pusan, which is the American supply depot on the peninsula. MacArthur said the Reds had been heartened by limited success there in a combined sea and land operation against the South Koreans Sunday.

LEAP YEARS

Leap year does not come every four years without fail. A year whose number is divisible by four is usually a leap year. If, however, the number is divisible by 100, then it must be divisible by 400 also. Thus, 1900 was not a leap year.

THE MARKETS

New York, July 17—(P)—The stock market slowly gave way under moderate selling pressure today. Auto issues were particularly hard hit but declines of fractions to more than 51 a share were liberally distributed elsewhere. A mere handful of stocks improved, notably American Woolen with a gain of more than 52 a share at one time. Uneasiness over the Korean war continued to dominate trading psychology.

OLDEST EMPLOYE HONORED—The annual picnic for Hammond Iron employees and their families at Marconi Cutting Club Saturday was a gala occasion for John August Johnson, of 13 Franklin street. He was honored with the presentation of a suitably inscribed gold watch in recognition of his 50 years of service with the firm. Johnson was the company's first employee, and is still working as a maintenance man for the firm. Shown here making the presentation of the watch is Robert Y. Kopf, company president. More than 300 attended the picnic, and enjoyed a full program of races and games. A chicken barbecued dinner was served by Lewis Catering Service. Aiding in the recreation program were three "clowns", Roger Heeter, William McGaughey and Dennis Songer, and Art Anderson and Joe Gardner, all of the State Hospital Staff. (Times-Mirror Photo)

Use This Routine to Help Seeds Grow in Hot Weather

It is impossible to get efficient production for the home vegetable garden without making several sowings of short harvest vegetables; and this requires the "know how" of starting seeds in hot, dry weather.

It is easy to do, but requires more care than many amateurs give to spring sowing. Seedlings must have moist soil, and a porous covering from which their sprouts can easily emerge; but if left to the mercy of the hot sun they may quickly be dried out, or imprinted by a baked crust of soil above them.

To prevent this, make a drill deeper than you would use in the spring, so the seeds lie closer to the soil water. Fill the drill with water, so it soaks into the soil for several inches. Mix the seed with sand and sow evenly on the damp soil.

Now cover the seeds with a special mixture of porous soil, prepared by mixing sifted top soil. Cover the seed with this, and then soak it with a sprinkling can or fine spray from the hose. Until the seeds germinate, the soil above them should not be allowed to dry out. The special soil mixture will not form a crust, but it may help keep it moist to shade sowings of short harvest vegetables; and this requires the "know how" of starting seeds in hot, dry weather.

By these methods any vegetable seed can be germinated. Lettuce is likely to give the most trouble; and if it does, spread the seeds on a damp towel, roll it up and place in the refrigerator for twenty-four hours. Then remove, dry the seed and sow. The chill will usually speed germination.

Need for these precautions against crust formation is increased rather than lessened by frequent rains. In soils containing any clay sunshine after a beating rain will bake the surface to the hardness of brick in a short time. Similar methods should be used in covering or shading flower seeds which are sown in hot weather.

Jamestown Makes Clean Sweep of Oldster, Midget Games

Jamestown made a clean sweep of a double bill with Warren baseball aggregations in the Jamestown Municipal Stadium yesterday afternoon. The Jamestown Oldsters topped the Warren Old-Timers, 9-8 with a final inning rally, while the Jamestown Midgets walloped the Warren Hot Stove Midgets, 18-1.

In the Midget game, however, Jamestown was using boys at least a year older than the Warren squad. It is hoped that this misunderstanding will be ironed by the time the same program is held at War Memorial Field on Saturday, July 29, under auspices of the Warren Kiwanis Club. Proceeds will be used for crippled children's work.

Yesterday's program was sponsored by the Jamestown Kiwanis.

Warren Old Timers scored four runs in the first and four in the second innings. Jamestown went down in order in the first three innings, scored one run in the fourth, five more in the sixth and three in the seventh. Cut McCullough pitched splendid ball for the first three innings, was succeeded in the fourth by Al Fischer, who was relieved in the sixth by "Chief" Bennett.

Art Johnson and Rabbit Swanson stole the show by their hitting and fielding. Art made a sensational catch in center field, which saved the game at that time. Swanson looked like the Rabbi of old, accepting a half dozen chances flawlessly.

The starting lineup for Warren was Steve Massa, catcher; Huntzinger second base; Rabbit Swanson, short stop; Art Johnson, center field; Fitzgerald, left field;

Paul Harrington, third base; Pikey Wright, first base; Charley Musante, right field; and Cut McCullough pitcher. These were Warren's shock troops; then came Austin, Ray Lewis, Anthony, Myers, Al Fischer, Ty Crandall, Myron Jewell, Freddie Gebhart, Harry Summers and Schaffer.

Highlights: Freddy Gebhart came out of the game in the fifth with a charley horse.

Ty Crandall made a sensational double play, surprising everyone, even himself.

Art Johnson went after a ball tagged with a home run label and brought it down for an out.

Rabbit Swanson made a beautiful stop of a hard hit ground ball that would have been a hit on any field, and threw out his man.

Both old timers teams marched on to the field behind the James.

Forge Nine Splits Even in Tilts With Ludlow and Pleasantville

National Forge Baseballs split even in two games over the weekend, when they topped the Ludlow Wildcats 6-2, but dropped a 7-3 decision to Pleasantville.

The game with Ludlow was played Sunday afternoon at Wildcat Park. Keith Vesting was the winning pitcher, Byham was the loser. Vesting fanned five batters and walked two, while Byham whiffed nine stickmen and allowed two walks. Each gave up nine safeties.

Emmy Morrison swatted a round tripper for the N.F.O. with one on in the seventh, while Jerry Vesting duplicated the performance with two aboard in the third.

Jubon and Burns each had three hits for Ludlow.

scrap with Pleasantville at the State Hospital field Saturday afternoon, the Forge took an early 2-0 lead and held it until the top half of the seventh inning. Then Pleasantville placed two runs in that frame to knot the count, and tied the game with a five-run spurge in the eighth inning.

Sterling went all the way for Pleasantville. He struck out seven men, allowed only two walks and was nicked for seven scattered hits. Baker started for the Forge but gave way to Gray after a wild streak in the eighth when he walked four men, had one misplay, and yielded a hit to give Pleasantville five big runs.

Castagnino and Reese clouted three-ply wallops for the Forge and Nobles had a double.

Jamestown and Erie Drivers Turn In Thrilling Performances at Speedway

(Written for the Times-Mirror)

Carl Pintagro of Jamestown, N. Y., and Glen Davis of Erie, turned in top performances yesterday afternoon at the Dicky-Ben Speedway as they placed one-two in the 20 lap final roadster event.

The fastest time in the time trial was set by Dick Linder of Erie, in his sassy, blue and white No. 15. His best time out of two timed laps was an even 31 seconds, which was two seconds faster than Pintagro's time. Davis rated third in the field of 13 cars.

Bob Allen of Erie was the only car in a starting field of five to finish the first heat, as Pintagro and Davis dropped out of the race with mechanical trouble. Dick Linder and Cotton Nealy were leaders in the event until they piled up against the North fence in their ninth lap, thus leaving a clear field for Allen.

The second heat saw Bob Baker, Jamestown, N. Y., take first place, followed by Wesley Finales of Bradford and Nick Antonello of Jamestown finishing second and third respectively. The third heat was won by Mike Eagen of Onondaga, N. Y., in his "Spider". Following in line were Jack Woodward of Frewsburg, N. Y., and Joe Terenna of Jamestown.

The fourth heat was made up of cars that did not finish or place in the previous three heats. This allowed Glenn Davis and Carl Pintagro, who have been competing against each other at many of the local tracks, to renew their rivalry. These fellows turned in a spectacular 4:38.0 time which was a full minute better than the three previous heats. Although Glenn Davis won this event by barely a scant two feet, he was to meet his down fall in the finals to Pintagro's "hot" car.

The consolation race, a ten lap event, went to Art Robbins as his purring No. 111 nosed out Cotton Nealy's squat blue No. 4.

The final event, a twenty-lap feature, saw the ever-battling Pintagro and Davis take a commanding lead in a thrilling race of their own. Davis hung on the tail of Pintagro's speedy No. 46 for twelve laps, when a dry bearing forced him to concentrate on his second position as Pintagro went on to finish, leading by a third of a lap. Pintagro's high speeds in the straight-of-way, breaking on the turns, and fast accelerations upon coming out of the turns allowed him to take first place with the excellent time of 17 minutes, 37 seconds.

Dick Linder of Erie finished third, after doing a quick repair job on damage done in first heat. Wesley Finales of Bradford placed fourth in his snappy looking No. 31.

Next week's stock car races will again present many local drivers in six thrilling events. The "hard-tops" make up in thrills for what they lack in speed and should certainly attract many local fans.

Fadales Triumph Over Glade With A 7 to 0 No-Hitter

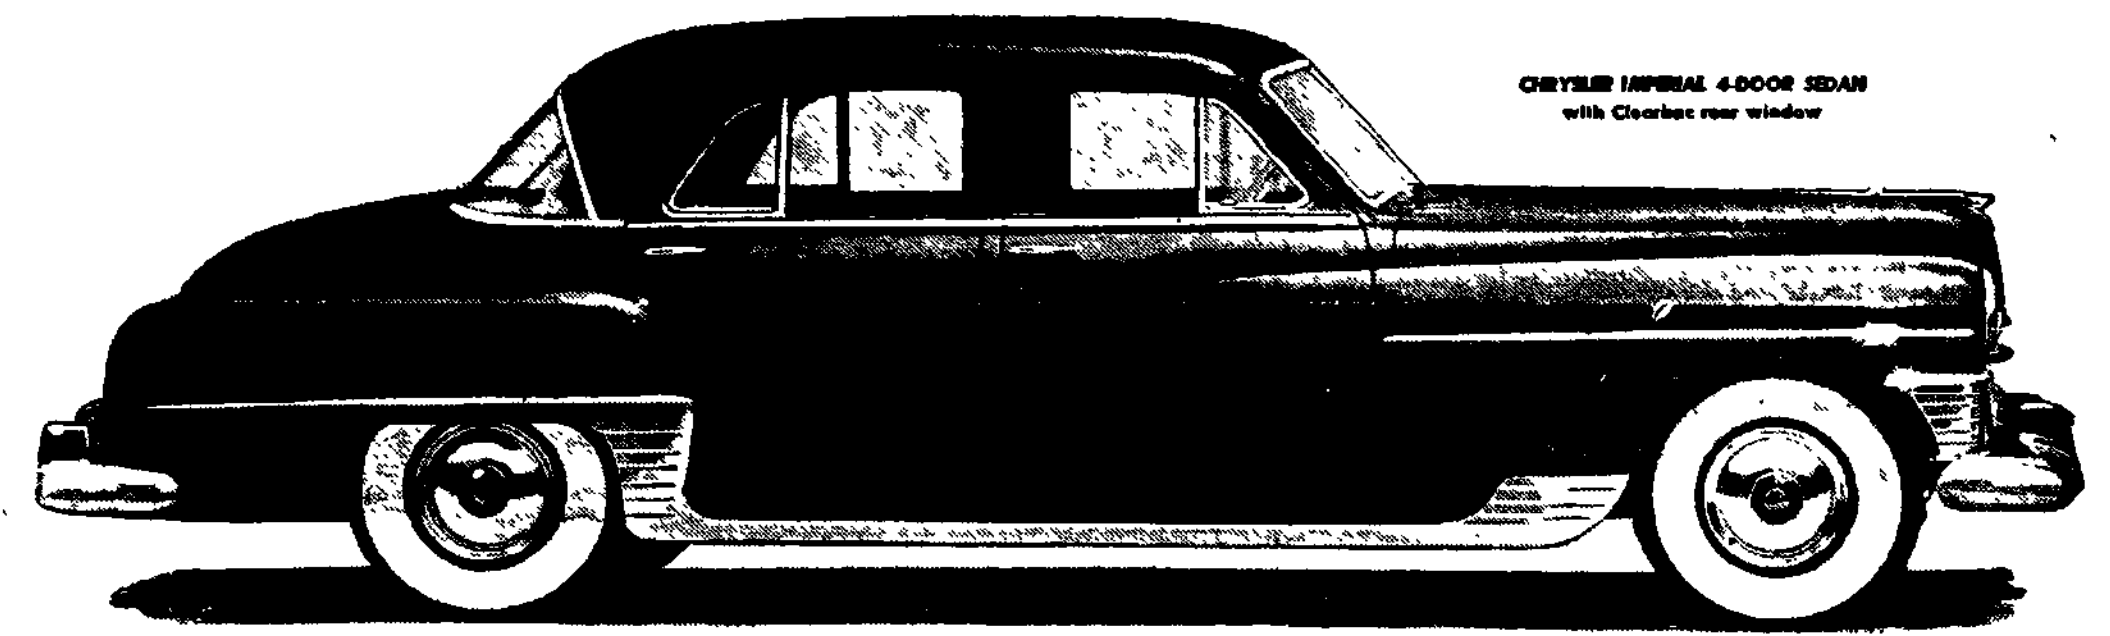

Fadales defeated Glade A. C. 7-0, in a make-up game in the Hot Stove Junior Baseball League at the State Hospital field Friday night.

It was the first no-hit, no-run scrap in this year's junior league competition. Credit for the performance goes to Albert (Rickey) Scallie, who was master of the game throughout and got himself out of hot water on several occasions after allowing bases on balls. Lyle was the losing hurler. Beckenbaugh smacked a home run with the bases loaded in the fourth to give Fadales a big push down the victory trail.

Chrysler Imperial a new car of unrivaled distinction

This is the Chrysler Imperial...new running mate of America's finest car, the great Chrysler Crown Imperial. With the same luxurious interiors—unmatched in automotive history! With built-in value all the way through unrivaled today! With the quality of materials, the workmanship, and engineering that put every Chrysler in a class by itself! From new Clearbac rear window to the soft, satiny butter-finished chrome of interior appointments...this car is excitingly new! Deliberately built as a challenge to all former standards of what a fine car should be...and should do for you! Come take the wheel. Then carefully compare the built-in value with what the others offer.

There's built-in value all the way through without equal... Waterproof Ignition System... High Compression Spitfire Engine... Fluid Drive... Full Flow Oil Filter... foam rubber seat backs... a Booster Brake... Chrome Wheel Covers—White Sidewall Tires... many other features that, when available at all, are extra-cost on other cars.

Here is distinction in interior decor unsurpassed in any other car, regardless of price. Aristocratic color harmonies combine exquisite wool broadcloth fabrics, top-grain leathers. Chrome is tasteful butter-finished. Window lifts are electrically operated... arm rests, front and rear, are double-width throughout.

SIMPLE PLAY NETS STARTLING RESULTS

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"I don't agree with you at all," said Larceny Lou. "You don't have to make complicated plays to get unusual results. Very often the simplest play in the world will get you a very startling score."

Bridge players always listen to Larceny Lou's stories. It's hard to get him to tell one, but when he breaks down, he usually tells a good one.

"For example," continued Lou, "take a hand I played in the Winter Championships of 1948. The bidding wasn't very good, perhaps, since six hearts would have been much safer. However, practically everybody played it at six trump to cash in on the higher trick value of a no trump contract.

"I had the West cards, and I opened the king of diamonds

Dummy won with the ace, and declarer then led a club to his ace. On this trick I dropped the jack of clubs.

"There wasn't anything to this play, of course. It's certainly not a complicated play—it's just a feeble attempt to deceive declarer. However, I couldn't think of anything better—and the play couldn't cost anything. For a simple play, it certainly had a remarkable effect."

"South stared at me for a long time, trying to decide if my play had been honest. He finally decided to gather some additional information to help him make up his mind. He therefore laid down the ace and king of spades.

"As you can see, my partner showed out on the second round of spades. (He discarded a heart.) Since this marked me with five to set a slam contract five tricks. Not when that slam has been bid by a good player. And that unusual result was brought about by a very simple play. I'm sure you'll agree that there is nothing remarkable about dropping the jack of clubs."

Larceny Lou was quite right, of course. There was nothing complicated about dropping the jack of clubs, but it is the sort of play that we often forget to make. If Lou had dropped a small club on the first trick, declarer would have had no choice. He would have made his slam instead of going down five! The difference is very nearly 2000 points!

Borough Authorities Start Task of Securing An Official List of Warren County War Casualties

When plans were first being discussed for War Memorial Field, one of the proposals worked into the master plan was for a monument at the field which will contain the names of Warren county war dead, both for World War I and World War II.

The suggestion for the monument was passed along to Town Council when the War Memorial Board turned the field over to the borough. Council has asked its Parks and Playgrounds Committee to study the matter, and to procure the names of all the county's war dead.

The committee, working under supervision of its chairman, S. E. Kuhre, has compiled a list of 233 Warren county boys who were killed during military service in World War II.

That list is printed herewith. Family members, relatives and friends are asked to check the list for two things:

1—Are the names on the committee's list correct as to spelling of first names, middle initials and surnames?

2—Are there any omissions? Those who know of names to be corrected, or names of additional war heroes to be added are asked to fill in the accompanying coupon and mail it, either to S. E. Kuhre, Secretary's office, Municipal Building, Warren, Pa., or to the Editorial Department of the Times-Mirror.

Here is the committee's list, prepared in cooperation with the Veterans Affairs office, local veterans organizations and the Times-Mirror. Names are listed alphabetically:

Business Session Held By the Pine Grove School Board

Russell, July 14—Business taken up by Pine Grove township school board members at their July meeting including reading of bids for re-lighting of the remaining school rooms, and awarding of the contract to the Bevevino Electric Company, Warren, in the amount of $1,882.01.

Discussion of bids for supplies for the coming year was followed by awarding of this contract to Kurtz Brothers, with the low bid of $442.50. President Jerold Angove conducted the session, which was attended by all members. Applications for a teaching position were read and prospects interviewed, but no action was taken. The resignation of another teacher, Mrs. Ruth Titchner, music instructor, was received with regret.

The tax exoneration list was read and a communication from the state tax equalization board was read and filed. The secretary presented 26 names for collection of additional taxes by the assessor and was also authorized to have the film projector repaired.

Other communications were read and filed and approved bills ordered paid before the board adjourned, to meet in special session July 20.
